Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, lines 10-15 are not clear. The Examiner does not understand how the stem permit the first neck to lock and then at the same time the stem prevent the same first neck to lock in one position. Regarding claim 5, claim 5 discloses the same problem. Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-4, 9, 11, 25-30, 32-33, 38-42 and 44-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fenlin US Patent 6,197,062 in view of Kummer et al US Patent 5,910,171.

Fenlin discloses a modular prosthesis comprising a plurality of stems, each stem including a tapered bore having a distal portion and a proximal portion and a neck registration element, a plurality of necks, each neck having a proximal end and a distal end, the distal end including a tapered portion and a stem registration element (see col. 3, lines 11-64; and Figs. 1-

3). However, Fenlin does not disclose neck and stem registration elements that can lock in multiple positions and/or prevent the registration elements lock at any position.

Kummer et al teaches a plurality of connecting elements (41) having different shapes wherein only one stem having the corresponding shape can be inserted in the corresponding bore. However, the elements having the corresponding bore shape can be inserted in multiple circumferential positions.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the Fenlin reference with the plurality of necks having different shapes but are capable of having different circumferential positions and capable of preventing the elements to lock at any position in order to meet the surgeon needs.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 5-8, 10, 12-24, 31, 34-37, and 43 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
